Art Unit: 3611

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sibley (USPN 3,785,541).

Sibley shows a snowmobile with a slide channel 10 that is horizontally oriented and located below the seat area and an upright support member 16 that can slide within and be stored in the channel. The support also pivots relative to the channel to a vertical, deployed position.

3. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Knutson (USPN 5,599,002).

Knutson shows a snowmobile with a support stand 64 that slides out from the rear bumper 16 of a snowmobile 12. A user can lift the rear end of the snowmobile and drop the support down to support the rear end of the snowmobile above the ground surface.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sibley in view of Knutson.

Sibley fails to teach positioning the support in a stowed position incorporated into the bumper.

Knutson shows an upright support that is incorporated into bumper 16.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the Sibley support in a bumper structure when stowed, as taught by Knutson, in order to protect the support when the vehicle is in operation.

6. Claims 8, 9, 12, and 13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Applicant's arguments filed March 25, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant states that the prior art of record fails to incorporate a telescopingly mounted support member deployable from a slide channel, but fails to specifically discuss the features of the prior art. The examiner maintains that Sibley shows a retractable support stand 16 with a slide channel 10 and an upright member 18 that telescopingly mounts within the horizontal slide channel. Figure 3 of Sibley shows the upright member in its upright position and Figure 1 shows it telecopingly received within the side slide members 10. therefore, all of the features of claim 6 are believed to be met by Sibley.

Applicant states that none of the prior art teaches a support member incorporated into the rear bumper in a concealed fashion. Knutson shows a support member 64 mounted behind bumper 16 to conceal and protect the support to some extent. The support is not entirely covered by the bumper, however, applicant's disclosure invention also fails to show the support entirely concealed. Therefore, Knutson teaches the claimed configuration, as broadly recited.

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
